

A Dream That Cannot Be

Amon Amarth

Him:

Years of wait are over now
She's almost in my grasp
Now I will fulfill my vow
She will be mine at last

Her:

I feel him near
The boy estranged has now returned
A full grown man, but still I fear that nothing's changed
He simply does not understand

Him:

Come with me
I'll set you free
And I'll show you
What your life could be

Her:

You can't see
That I am free
My life is mine,
Not yours, so leave me be

Him:

Through forests deep, over mountains high
I've crossed the waves for her
In shadows dark, this cursed night
My thoughts and memories stir

Her:

I've left the memories
Of our youth behind
I don't know what he hopes to find
In the shadows he waits for me

Him:

Come with me
I'll set you free
And I'll show you
What your life could be

Her:

You can't see
That I am free
My life is mine,
Not yours, so leave me be

Him:

She refuses to leave
So I grab her by force

Her:

I pull the knife I've concealed
I put the edge to his throat

Him:

Shocked by the attack
I can feel her final words sear

Her:
Leave and never come back
Or I'll cut you ear to ear

Her:
You can't see
That I am free
My life is mine,
Not yours, so leave me be

Both:
I'll set you free
He said to me
And I'll show you what your life could be
I am free
She said to me
My life is mine,
Not yours, so leave me be!
