Narrow Path

A narrow path Now overgrown Covered by grass Almost gone

It whispers an invitation to me Unveils a new direction

Around me the forest sings The sun gilds the road

Here's my place This is my world Here's my future I make my fire here

The trail leads me to the sea The stones feel so familiar On this cliff I've been before And heard the song of the waves

The path turns to a road The river flows into the sea Around me the forest sings The sun gilds the road.

Amorphis