

Seven Roads Come Together

Amorphis

Stepping out in to the open
From the dark paths of the forest
You will know why you have traveled
Squinting your eyes in the light

When the sky arches above you
And the wood rustles and sighs
You are born into another place
Arrive in another time

Place your gifts on that stone
With a drop of your blood
Where seven roads come together
Offer a gift of honey
Give the fruits of your ghost
Where seven roads come together

You will see the silent meadow
Where seven roads come together
Shining calmly like a distant star
Where seven roads come together

You will see in the crossroads
A stone carried by ice
Rolled by waters of the past
Set in its place by time

Place your gifts on that stone
With a drop of your blood
Where seven roads come together
Offer a gift of honey
Give the fruits of your ghost
Where seven roads come together

When the shadows of the forest
Have led you astray
Remember that you've been in this place

When the shadows of the forest
Have led you astray
Remember that you've been in this place

When the sky arches above you
And the woods rustle and sighs
You are born into another plane
Arrive in another time

Place your gifts on that stone
Where seven roads come together
Offer a gift of honey
Where seven roads come together

Come together
Where seven roads come together