

Everything Has Changed

Amos Lee

I can't feel my love anymore
I can't feel my love anymore
The mystery and the splendor
Don't thrill me like before
And I can't feel my love anymore

I don't wanna talk to anyone
I don't wanna talk to anyone
All the words that used to work
Have melted in the sun
And I don't wanna talk to anyone

Faces look familiar, but they don't have names
Towns I used to live in have been rearranged
Highways I once traveled down don't look the same
Everything has changed
Everything has changed

I can't find my joy anywhere
I can't find my joy anywhere
All the magic vanished
Into the misty air
And I can't find my joy anywhere

I don't know where my faith has gone
Now I don't know where my faith has gone
The wonder I had a sense of
To the brightest star that shone
I don't know where my faith has gone

Faces look familiar, but they don't have names
Towns I used to live in have been rearranged
Highways I once traveled down don't look the same
Everything has changed
Everything has changed
