

Hymn of the Aten

Amplifier

I'll shield my face, for you are my master,
Here in the glow of each glorious sunbeam.
Into the blue, up into the blue, yea,
Keep me alive here, keep me alive here.

Keep me alive here.

So look to the east with each breaking morning,
And look to the west with each sunset descending.
Into the blue, up into the blue,
Well, some days you win, and some days you lose.

Ascending, ascending.
Well the sun shines holy,
The sun shines holy, yea.

So do unto me, for I am your servant,
Burning my skin in each molten rapture.
Into the blue, up into the blue,
Where death holds no fear, death holds no fear.

Where death holds no fear
Where death holds no fear
Fear...
Where death holds no fear
No fear...

Ascending, ascending
Well the sun shines holy,
The sun shines holy, yea.