I'm gonna take a trip to a distant sun leave this planet far behind and travel the road to kingdom come got a universe to sail across, across now I've just begun now I've just begun and stretching out ahead of me promised to eternal skies to travel distant galaxies got a universe to sail across, across like a jet black sea travelling faster than the light travelling faster than the light faster than the light is the only way to be

is the only way to be we'll go somewhere you'll never be kick the engine to overdrive and I'm faster than a laser beam got a universe to sail across, across till the day I die and I'm riding high some got a universe to sail across, across till the day I die $\,$ travelling faster than the light travelling faster than the light faster than the light travelling faster than the light faster than the light travelling faster than the light travelling faster than the light is the only way to be

is the only way to be

travelling faster than the light travelling faster than the light is the only way to be and the only possibility to be truly free and I know that you set the control for the heart of the sun