Kaleidoscope

Hey
Well what's a man to do
On a perfect kind of day
For hanging out with Lucy In The Sky
For tripping down a deaddogs eye

Throw a bone to the drowning fool
Poolside in sunglasses of Technicolour
Slowburn the heretics all come and gone
Unlearned all the words of their songs

And everyday
Well I get déjà vu
And its a splinter in my mind
So let's stop messing around
Because its you I came to find
And anyone can see inside

You've become a kind of radio
Tongue tied on the mystery jet
That flew so close
That you could feel the ghost of a hand

Kaleidoscope

Everyday I put my moonboots on
And I been kicking around
We all get so strung out every night
Just waiting for the sun
And it won't be long until it shines
In every heart and every home
Come alive with giant steps to carry me
So high from the belly of your silo
Down low my kaleidoscope go

And I could spin them all
The candyfloss of hope and glory
Hold tight to the gravity claw
So come over if you're ever feeling lonely
Kaleidoscope I can't put you down
Kaleidoscope I can't put you down
