

Befriend the Ghost

Amyst

befriend the ghost that stands beside you at night, she will never leave, just look at you with green eyes while you're asleep, comforting you, you will thank her for the ring and the dress, befriend your way home, she will kiss your lips and take you with her, where you can dance like you used to, just you and her, holding each other like you used to