

"This passage is from a book called the 'Three Books of Occult Philosophy'"

This... castle the rangers keep, and the black daughters of hell

But then the furies with snakes spread abroad

O wretched Arts which can afford only this convenience -
That as a known guest I may approach the Stygian waters