

To Spite The Face

Anaal Nathrakh

In all devotion and divinity lies the core of self regard
Distorted mirror crazed with vanity, disfiguring quintessent shard

To spite the face

No remnant traces of serenity
We are the wellspring of all harm
Freely condemning all our progeny
All wickedness entirely ours