Are You There?

Anathema

Are you there?
Is it wonderful to know
All the ghosts...
All the ghosts...
Freak my selfish out
My mind is happy
Need to learn to let it go
I know you'd do no harm to me

But since you've been gone I've been lost inside Tried and failed as we walked by the riverside And I wish you could see the love in her eyes The best friend that eluded you lost in time Burned alive in the heat of a grieving mind

But what can I say now?

It couldn't be more wrong

Cos there's no one there

Unmistakably lost and without a care

Did we lose all the love that we could have shared

And its wearing me down

And its turning me round

And I can't find a way

Now to find it out

Where are you when I need you...

Are you there?
