Impossible

Anberlin

You make my teeth clench and my hands shake Do you ever see what you do to me? You're wearing me out Just wearing me out But I'm wearing you down

You're impossible to love or leave So impossible to win or please I'm wearing you out Just wearing you out But I'm wearing you down

Take what you want from me It means nothing now Take everything from me It means nothing now Not so easy to forgive; harder to forget Take what you want

I make your lips wet And your moans quake Try to think through what I can do to you It's wearing me thin, Can I begin to wear you out?

Take what you want from me It means nothing now Take everything from me It means nothing now Not so easy to forgive; harder to forget Take what you want

I'm impossible to figure out So impossible you had your doubts

Take what you want from me It means nothing now Take everything, honey, It means nothing now Not so easy to forgive; harder to forget Take what you want from me It means nothing now Take everything, honey It means nothing now Not so easy to forgive; harder to forget Take what you want from me