

All That Is True

Ancient Bards

Standing by the window two shadows are getting closer tight in a warm embrace

Swayin' under the moonlight caressing each others hands with such a peaceful grace

Gently she leans now her head on his chest feeling his heartbeat she lets her hair down

My love I can't do this we knew it from the start I just can't be with you You're not from around here, you're not one of my kind, this love's against the law

He kisses her forehead
then shifts to her neck she starts breathing faster the passion's too strong

To my heart you're all that is true (I feel you) and I won't give up on you loving you is all I can do (I know) you're all that's worth living for My love let me love you for nothing can come between us not even your cruel laws Together we can make it and I'll be yours forever, untill death do us part

He kisses her forehead
then shifts to her neck
she starts brathing faster
the passion's too strong

To my heart you're all that is true (I feel you)
and I won't give up on you
loving you is all I can do (I know)
you're all that's worth living for

To me you're my air you're all that I see my angel of love
loving you is all I can do (I know) you're all that I need

After this union a baby is born we'll secretly raise him until he's ready to prove to the world our love is true and we'll be free

To my heart you're all that is true (I feel you)
and I won't give up on you
loving you is all I can do (I know)
you're all that's worth living for

The new family were happy, peace reigned among them, they lived united in the hope that some day they could share their joy with the world, but sadly the baby became sick and died. They never recovered from their loss and eventually this shock led them to insanity.

To my heart you're all that's true and I know I won't give up on you! loving you, oh it's all that I can do and I know you're all I'm living for

Anger
Madness