

Under the Shadow

Ancient Bards

My world, my family
Wrecked by my own blood
I feel I'm breaking
Under the shadow

I get it now, I trusted you
You've betrayed, all I hold true
Felt used, our bond abused, now all is lost
You shattered my faith, left me broken and bruised

It's building up, it's building up, it's building up, my wrath
Is building up, beyond my command
It's tearing up, it's tearing up, it's tearing up, my mind
Is tearing up, I'm losing control

My world, my family
Wrecked by my own blood
I feel I'm breaking
Under the shadow

I gave you my all, but you tossed it aside
We could have found a way, but you chose the warpath
Now perish you monster, your chest is wide open
Your essence dismembers and fills my sword

It's building up, it's building up, it's building up, my grief
Is building up, it's drowning my soul
It's tearing up, it's tearing up, it's tearing up, my heart
Is tearing up, I'm losing it all

My world, my family
Wrecked by my own blood
I feel I'm breaking
Under the shadow

Though I would like to stay
You destroyed our world
You shattered everything
You exploited my trust
You took forever away
And led me out here with no future

My world, my family
Wrecked by my own blood
I feel I'm breaking
Under the shadow

Oh, I'd like to stay under the White Stars
Awaiting the warm relief of a new dawn
I would welcome the day with unending elation
But something far greater than me
Has been placed into my hands
I'll be fighting the best I can
To remain in the light
I'll follow your love back home
Right back to the place of the heart
Where there is never shadow
