

After

Andain

Feeling the flame burn
Feeling my veins hurt
After the wave forms
After the world storms

You spoke in side words
Failing the offer
Sending me out there
Feeling the cold air

You're gone
You're gone

Feeling the right words
Feeling the unheard
After the wave forms
After the world storms

You broke in my fears
Leaving me inside
Sending me out there
Feeling the cold air

As you're gone I open
I will, I will see
Up and up and on and on and
Down and over me

And night after night of fooling myself
I would like to rewind and find something I'd never felt
And night after night I would tire of fooling myself
I could find what it's like to lose something after it fell

As you're gone I open
I will, I will see
Up and up and on and on and
Down and over me