

Everything From Me

Andain

So please don't make more promises to me

Why get along when it's always just the same, ohh
Why get alone when it's always just the same
And baby do you realize that i want change? ohh
And baby do you realize that nothing stays the same

So please don't make more promises to me
(promises, promises)
Don't make more promises
(Promises, promises)

Oh oh oh

Why play along when it's always just a game, ohh
Why when it's gone is there no one left to blame
And baby do you realize that i want change, ohh
And baby do you realize that nothing stays the same

So please don't make more promises to me
And please don't take everything from me
And i will breath in every word you mean
If you could please promise them to me
so please don't make more promises to me.