

Drivers License

Andi

You got your drivers license last week
Just like he always talked about
Its almost like he forgot about me
Every time you came around
I don't drive through the suburbs
I hope he doesn't let me down

I turned out to be that blonde girl
The one you worried about
What if I told you something
Your everything I'm insecure about
Hated it when you drove through the suburbs
I know your all he thinks about

I know you're not perfect but he doesn't look at me like I'm the one
And I know you don't see it but he's really not the same now that you're gone
How do I know that he really feels that way about me
He told me forever but that doesn't seem promising

Don't tell my friends about it
I don't know what they would say
I'm the reason your heartbroken
Just because he took my breath away
I can't drive through the suburbs
I wish there was some guilt on his face

I know your heartbroken just because he couldn't wait to find love
And I know you don't see it but he's really not the same now that you're gone
How do I know what this boy really wants out of me
Thought he was the one but I guess I'm just new and shiny