

Hard To Breath

Andragonia

Finally I have realized
Our acts are so weak as glass
Now I know we've got to pretend
Everything makes no sense for me
Everyday I try to visualize
Things made us lose control
I won't accept it, this truth is so fake
I have put my trust in you

Now I'm here I think about the future
Wondering which path to take
I'm tired of living inside this fake world of lies
I don't belong to this reality!

I'm wondering where I am
How can I escape from here?
One more day I can't take
Now the air is hard to breath

We're so proud of what we've left behind
And We have destroyed our roots
And We've spent the days selling our values
We've forgotten who we are

What have you done to change things around you
The first step depends on you
Life is not what it was supposed to be
We have got to make it change...

I'm wondering where I am
How can I escape from here?
One more day I can't take
Now the air is so hard to breath

Now I'm here I think about the future
Wondering which path to take
I'm tired of living inside this fake world of lies
I don't belong to this reality!

I'm wondering where I am
How can I escape from here?
One more day I can't take
Now the air is hard to breath.
