

When Silence Meets The Sorrow

Andragonia

When day turns into night,
It shows me I'm on my own
And sorrow fills my soul
For all the things that I have failed
It's hard when you don't find a way
To let the words flow out
Then we have to swallow the feeling
That later begins to choke

When silence meets the sorrow
I don't know who I am
I'm lost inside the sadness
I've tried to find my way

It's so hard to find the way out
When the walls seems to close in
I'm affraid of what I'll find ahead
I'm not strong that I wanted to be

Let me find my strenght inside,
Let me run through counterflow,
Let me break the chains I hide,
Let me rise after the fall,

When silence meets the sorrow
I don't know who I am
I'm lost inside the sadness
I've tried to find my way
When silence meets the sorrow
I throw my joy away
It starts when I close my eyes
It ends when I hear you say...

When silence meets the sorrow
I don't know who I am
I'm lost inside the sadness
I've tried to find my way
When silence meets the sorrow
I throw my joy away
It starts when I close my eyes
It ends when I hear you say...
