

Grab Your Shoes

Andrew Allen

We took the door off of the hinge
Wrote a letter to the landlord saying "we're sorry."
But the world kept knocking
And it's too damn pretty to not see the city
So the windows had to go too
And there's no skylight, so we cut a few
This love is way too big
To be kept in this tiny apartment, so

Grab your shoes
The clothes that you got on will have to do
Keys in the door and the rent's in the mailbox
I'll take the wheel, you take the window
Maybe I'm nuts, but the city's not big enough for
Me and you
So grab your shoes

We pushed a square into a hole
That was made for a circle jumping hurdle after hurdle
It's kinda getting old
And we're way too young to not have fun
So if the world keeps bugging you
We'll knock it down and make a little more room
This love is way too big
So let's not keep it waiting, no

Grab your shoes
The clothes that you got on will have to do
Keys in the door and the rent's in the mailbox
I'll take the wheel, you take the window
Maybe I'm nuts, but the city's not big enough for Me and you
Yeah

Leave our couch sitting on the sidewalk
Leave our TV lying in the alley
All of the clothes we don't have on
Go out through the window, and onto the lawn
The mattress goes in the dumpster
That stupid lamp, why even bother?
We've always been more than enough
And I know there's a place somewhere better for us
Cause this love is way too big
To be kept in this tiny apartment, heh

Grab your shoes
The clothes you got on will have to do
Keys in the door and the rent's in the mailbox
I'll take the wheel, you take the window
Maybe I'm nuts, but the city's not big enough for Me and you, no
Me and you
So grab your shoes
