

New York

Andrew Belle

Oh in New York sometimes
Oh we just fall apart
But you're the alibi
That I know by heart

I know who you are and I won't leave you
A morning star come here to see through
Cause there's me and there's you
There's false and there's true
I know who you are and I won't leave you
A morning star come here to see through
Cause there's me and there's you
There's false and there's true

Oh in New York sometimes
We try to follow through
But there's a rising tide
Rolling over you
So tell me where do I stand
And what I got into
I wanna be the sand
Living under you

I know who you are and I won't leave you
A morning star come here to see through
Cause there's me and there's you
There's false and there's true
I know who you are and I won't leave you
A morning star come here to see through
Cause there's me and there's you
There's false and there's true

Suddenly I remember
I've been here before
Your lines are falling for me
And there's a crack in everything
Then I remember
I've been here before
Your lines are falling for me
And there's a crack in everything

I know who you are and I won't leave you
A morning star come here to see through
Cause there's me and there's you
There's false and there's true
I know who you are and I won't leave you
A morning star come here to see through
Cause there's me and there's you
There's false and there's true
