

Dissonance

Andrew Jackson Jihad

My feet planted in different realities
I've been doing lots of parallel planning and asking
Does morals exist anymore?
Wondering if society's all broken down yet

I should probably know
I should probably know
I should probably grow some more plants in the window
I should probably try
I should probably try
I should probably try to find a cure for this dissonance and I wonder

Is there anybody out there who knows -
When even was our last objective reality?
I wanna buy them a drink. I wanna pick on their brains.
I wanna hear all the things that we once held in common

And I'll probably cry
Yes I'll probably cry
And I'll probably rhyme sigh and die a couple more times
But you're probably right, I should probably keep it light
I could go on all night when there's no one to stop me and I wo nder...

My feet planted in different realities
I've been doing lots of parallel planning and asking
Does morals exist anymore?
Wondering if society's all broken down yet

I should probably know
I should probably know
I should probably grow some more plants in the window
I should probably try
I should probably try
I should probably try to find a cure for this dissonance and I
wonder

Is there anybody out there who knows -
When even was our last objective reality?