

Catching Cold

Andrew McMahon

Looking in your eyes I was waiting with my black umbrella Wearing your disguise now you're only wasting time on me
I know your every move, baby girl you used to make me nervous Shuffling the pages, talking through a violent sleep

Wahoo

Wahoo

It will only take a little while till your highs will become yo ur lows
Barely moving then you're running wild
Catch a fire like you're catching cold, cold

Waiting for the change like you're waiting for the rain, I'll b e there
Standing in the shadows underneath the family tree
I know your every move, baby girl you gave the blood that saved me

I'll never leave your side
Now you'll always be a part of me

It will only take a little while till your highs will become yo ur lows
Barely moving then you're running wild
Catch a fire like you're catching cold

If the moonlight comes to steal your smile, call me up when you r high's gone low
It will only take a little while, catch on fire like you're cat ching cold, cold

Wahoo

Wahoo

Wahoo

It will only take a little while till your highs will become my lows
Barely moving then you're running wild,
Catch a fire like you're catching cold, cold

If the moonlight comes to steal your smile, call me up when you
're high's gone low Keep on moving don't go running wild, catch a fire like you're catching cold, cold
