

You taught me to lie
I taught you to fake it
You asked me to take it with no explanation
Red red wine makes a stain on your shirt
And i pretend there's no stain at all

You ask me to dance
I turn you down
You tell me rejection is good for one's heart and soul

You wanted me to go
I got you to come in time
I would have burned you
I wanted to fly
You just wanted to be inside
I could have killed you
It's a sign of the times
I just don't need you anymore