

Lover Free

Andru Donalds

I set the lover free
But she's still haunting me
I set the lover free
But she's still haunting me

I always knew
That to my love she would be true
But I could never feel that way
So I made her blue
I told her to find someone new
So that I could do the same

I was a fool
I thought that I could live without her
Independent state of mind
But I never knew how lonely
I would feel without her
But never was a friend of mine

I wish that I had never let her go
She tried her best to make me stay
There's no giving back the freedom
That I chose
She found another love
And I can't stand this pain
