

Without You

Andy Grammer

Us against the world
Moving mountains together
That's what makes it hard
I didn't want this, but here we are

I didn't know my mouth
Could ever make this sound
So weird to say out loud
"I think I'd be better without you"

The walls are coming down
I'm reaching higher now
So weird to say out loud
"I think I'd be better without you"

That I could be happy, happier now
I'm finally figuring out
That I'd be better with-better without you

That I could be happy, happier now
I'm finally figuring out
That I'd be better with-better without you

I
Will brave the night
Take my chances
Roll the dice
'Cause I
Can see some light
Coming through from the other side

The walls are coming down
I'm reaching higher now
So weird to say out loud
"I think I'd be better without you"

That I could be happy, happier now
I'm finally figuring out
That I'd be better with-better without you

That I could be happy, happier now
I'm finally figuring out
That I'd be better with-better without you

I didn't know my mouth
Could ever make this sound
So weird to say out loud
"I think I'd be better without you"

The walls are coming down
I'm reaching higher now
So weird to say out loud
"I think I'd be better without you"

That I could be happy, happier now
I'm finally figuring out
That I'd be better with-better without you

That I could be happy, happier now
I'm finally figuring out
That I'd be better with ~~better~~ without you
