Picnic

Andy Williams

On a picnic morning without a warning I looked at you and somehow I knew

On a day for singing,
My heart went winging
A picnic grove was our rendezvous
You and I in the sunshine
We strolled the fields amd farms
At the last light of evening,
I held you in my arms

So when days grow stormy
And lonely for me
I just recall picnic time with you.

You and I in the sunshine We strolled the fields amd farms At the last light of evening, I held you in my arms

So when days grow stormy And lonely for me I just recall picnic time with you.
