

Shape of a Heart

Ane Brun

It's like I'm walking on the moon it's all new, it's all new It's like I'm entering a pitch black room
it's all new, it's all new It's like a see-through thing that don't smell don't stink
it's all new, it's all new It's when I let the truth in let it all begin
it's all new, it's all new

Though the shape of a heart is always the same
You can never be sure it fits your frame
