

You and I we will reignite one day
You and I we will reignite one day

Here's a lullaby for the teardrops woven in your pillowcase
It's a lullaby for the runaways
Yeah
Here's a lullaby for the raindrops painted on your windowpane
It's a lullaby for the runaways

So, run away to your dreams
'Til you find some relief
Run away to your dreams
'Til you find
That we are here, we are now, we are everything and nothing
We are living, we are dying, we are fighters, we are lovers
We are clouds above the mountains pouring rain down to the streams
We are spiritual in nature, we are everything between

See: we are healers, we are leaders, we are teachers, we are priests
We are fathers, we are ancient family trees
We are everything you've seen but we are nothing that you know
We are pollen in this fallen world, we flower and we grow