

Shooting Star

Anekdoten

Hold on, the king will come
Patience, my little child, time will be on your side
Hope's gone for those who dared to walk out all alone
There's no mercy to be found underneath the desert sun

Hold your head up high
Point the arrows straight at the sky
Hold your head up high

Struggling, battling the enemy within
Dangers lurking in the night hidden to the naked eye

Hold your head up high
Point the arrows straight at the sky
Hold your head up high
Take heed when you do hear my warning!

Comes a time
A clear blue morning
A cloudless sky
A new day dawning

No more fears or illusions
Only love
A brave new world awaiting us

No more wars
When we're through it all
When we're whole and one
There'll be no more aggravation

We're children groping in the dark
Can't even see what's in front of me
I wish upon a shooting star for immortality

A hard rain will begin to fall
We'll be here waiting for the call
Know it won't be very far
Did you see the sign?
Did you see the star?
Keep your eyes on the sky!
