

Inside My Head

Anella Herim

(You, you)
I don't need space
I just need a break
I just need some time to think
I just need silence
Lil bit of faith (uh)
I just need to find my own place
Somewhere I can drink a lil bit
And get wasted
I feel like my time here gets a bit wasted
Thinking bout sex
Thinking bout drugs
Thinking bout money
I been spending too much
Thinking bout her
Thinking bout love
Thinking that its never gonna be enough
Oh it gets to feeling like I'm running in circles
Feels like its ending up worthless
But ain't nobody gonna look beneath the surface
So they ain't no use in opening my curtains up

They say its all inside my head
To drink and I'll forget you
But these days its hard to hide the scent
Perfume and cigarettes in my room
Maybe I'll wake up and lose the thought of you one day
But the hardest part of letting go is coping with the pain (oh)
They say its all inside my head
Its all inside my head
Its all inside my
Head

I never had you
I never had them
Hell I feel I never had the half of my friends
Like I'm talking too much or I'm talking too less than 17 percent of my self of my conscience
Imma take a flight to a solo little island
I won't get text, no calls, no surprises
I won't have to stop that
I won't have to buy this
I won't have to tell a damn soul where my mind is Cause its hard to breath
I know you're counting on me
I can't give you what you need
But you're all that I think

They say its all inside my head
To drink and I'll forget you
But these days its hard to hide the scent
Perfume and cigarettes in my room
Maybe I'll wake up and lose the thought of you one day
But the hardest part of letting go is coping with the pain (oh)
They say its all inside my head
Its all inside my head
Its all inside my

Head
