

Ghost On

Angel Olsen

Tell me how I should feel
How can this heart learn how to heal?
When should I believe the things you say?
You change your mind from day to day

And I don't know if you can take such a good thing coming to you
And I don't know if you can love someone stronger than you're used to

I know I have my own remorse
I often overthink, of course
The past is with us, it plays a part
How can we change it? How do we start?

'Cause I don't know if you can take such a good thing coming to you
And I don't know if you can love someone stronger than what suits you
And I can't fit into the past that you're used to, I refuse to
I don't know if you can take such a good thing coming to you