

Summer

Angel Olsen

Took a while but I made it through
If I could show you the hell I'd been to
Kept climbing till one day I looked back
I was so high I couldn't think to land

And then one moment I was blown away
And there was nothing left that I could say
Or do

Took a while but I made it through
If I could show you the hell I'd been to
Lost the light but there the sun was shining
Couldn't hide it and I wasn't trying

And all those people I thought knew me well
After all that time they couldn't tell
How I lost, my soul was just a shell
There was nothing left that I could lose

Took a while but I made it through
If I could show the hell I'd been to
Lost the light but there the sun was shining
Couldn't hide it and I wasn't trying

Was I becoming what I had to be?
Was that the truth I was suppose to see I?
I may have never found my way to you

And all those summer days were like a dream
Woke me from a restless sleep
Made me quiet, had me weak
And all the weight of all the world came rushing through
