

A Good Man's Light

Angelo De Augustine

Not once
But twice
Walked into my life
And left
To find what you want

Back with
Your man
Who dresses up like John Lennon
And sings in
A Beatles cover band

He's drunk
You're too
He'll pull back
And hurt you
Fears just like a nightmare
To me

All the conti's far down the line
Have let in abuse of all kinds
Feels familiar and justifies
A sad urge to sabotage your own life
Now you think you're living it right
But you're not when you blow out a good man's Light
Light
Light

You're a
Liar
On sale
For hire
But we know you work for free
Selfish
So true
Feel like I don't know you
And I never knew myself

All the conti's far down the line
Have let in abuse of all kinds
Feels familiar and justifies
A sad urge to sabotage your own life
Now you think you're living it right
But you're not when you blow out a good man's
Light
Light
Light

I still
Love you
And I'd do anything to Help you
Feel more at ease
To my own detriment
In codependent affluence
Comfortable

Living in a dream

All the conti's far down the line
Have let in abuse of all kinds
Feels familiar and justifies
A sad urge to sabotage your own life
Now you think you're living it right
But you're not when you blow out a good man's
Light
Light
Light
