

All Your Life

Angelo De Augustine

Oh, thought I'd go and leave
Anyway time recalls
All your life, all your life, all your life
All your life, all your life, all your life, all your life

Oh, you can't believe
That a match dipped in gasoline
Has the power to lift you from this dream
One I thought to leave

Now I'll go and lead
Anyway time recalls
All your life, all your life, all your life
All your life, all your life, all your life, all your life

Oh, the pills were green
And I swallowed them inside a sea of mercury
Then the fire came and burned your mind
And drowned you deep
When I thought to leave

Anyway time recalls
All your life, all your life, all your life
All your life, all your life, all your life, all your life

Oh, the noose was clean
As I swung it on the blade on high, the fan did gleam
And it's revolutions turned my mind back indeed
When I thought to leave

Anyway time recalls
All your life, all your life, all your life
All your life, all your life, all your life, all your life
All your life, all your life, all your life, all your life