I Could Be Wrong

Angelo De Augustine

All the light came on my way
From a once familiar face
Thought the love was here to stay

I could be wrong if I think I'll forget about you
I could be wrong if I think I'll forget about you
I could be wrong if I think I'll forget about you

Have you come to pacify?
Let the haze enclose your mind
Just the way you pass the time

I could be wrong if I think I'll forget about you
I could be wrong if I think I'll forget about you
I could be wrong if I think I'll forget about you

All the visions came in from the east and from the north
Future is the past and it's still knocking at your door
I could see you now
I saw my friend
She called my name
Or you propose the question to the history of refrain

Do you miss the time at all?
Had a thought leave as I fall
To make eyes and close the door

I could be wrong if I think I'll forget about you
I could be wrong if I think I'll forget about you
I could be wrong if I think I'll forget about you

All the visions came in from the east and from the north
Future is the past and it's still knocking at your door
I could see you now
I saw my friend
She called my name
Or you propose the question to the history of refrain

All the light came on my way
From a once familiar face
Thought the love was here to stay

I could be wrong if I think I'll forget about you
I could be wrong if I think I'll forget about you
I could be wrong if I think I'll forget about you
