

Through the Glass

Angelus Apatrida

What is this fear that makes you tremble?
What are you looking for?
Too many places to remember
One way to lose control

Consumed with jealousy
Trapped under a distorted reality
Voices comfort whispering lies
Await the moment for the final price

Deception drills on twisted judgements
Why all the compromise?
Can't hide the smell of rotting bodies
The endless sacrifice

Devoured by evil eyes
Watching over from a different plane
Voices confront whispering lies
The curtain is drawn, too blind to realize

This was your life, no second chance
We're all inside the bottle
You're looking through the glass
Forget your past, no mourned demise

We're eyeless in the journey
while looking through the glass

What are the reasons for self-delusion?
Why all this bitterness?
Scared of buried confrontations
Life's just a formality

Consumed with evil eyes
Watching over from a distorted reality
Voices confront whispering lies
The curtain is drawn, too blind to realize

This was your life, no second chance
We're all inside the bottle
You're looking through the glass
Forget your past, no mourned demise

We're eyeless in the journey
while looking through the glass

These chains you bound around our dusty hearts
We're all inside the bottle
You're looking through the looking glass
Release your past, light up the dark path
We're eyeless in the journey
while looking through the glass
