

I Am Already Enough

Angie McMahon

Behind me where I buried my head, while I was drowning
I was drowning out the sounding of the warning
The warning 'bout the trash that I threw when I was climbing
Everything that I do to get through lightning striking

I didn't know how to love my life
I didn't know how to join the fight

I'm a living breathing Earthling
I am already enough
I am already a living, breathing Earthling
I am already enough, I am already enough, I am already enough

Beneath us in the subterranean ether
We'll be introduced to the echo creatures
The ego teachers

I think I know how to love my life
I think I know how to join the fight
And if I dance like I'm goddamn sure
Then it doesn't hurt like it did before

I am a living breathing Earthling
I am already enough, I am already enough
I am a living, breathing Earthling
I am already enough, I am already enough
I am a living, breathing Earthling
I am already enough, I am already enough, I am already enough
I am a living, breathing Earthling
I am already enough, I am already enough, I am already enough
I am already enough, I am already enough, I am already enough
