Here and now again
What for an alien's reunion
Love when things begin
Could I have more of that light here please?
And all the tears
They become a melting ice
I just quit asking
And I just quit running from the noise
The air is onWide
So hold on tight 'cos this could be new
Till there is nothing more to say
And nothing more to take away
It's opening wide
It opens inside of me
Soon I'll be gone
Say goodbye to what you're holding on to
And see the chaos from above for once
For now, so white, for real, so wide
See the windows break
I always knew it had to be me
I - I have to move
At least as long as I'm the latest breed
I could have screamed before
But it could never be so loud
And all the scars become the brushstrokes
And all the tears
They become a melting ice
Till there is nothing more to say
And nothing more to take away
Another race in outer space
Throw it away and take another one
Get on the race in outer space
Throw it away and take another
