

Everything (Definition Of A Friend)

Anita Wilson

You are more than I can ever imagine
For beyond what I can comprehend
I will never understand why you love me so much
You are the definition of a friend

I just can't seem to figure it out
The reason you never gave up on me
I've wasted so much time on friends that let me down
But in you I found consistency

I've often wonder how my life would be
If one day you decided to take you're grace away from me
I come to realize that I would be just like a heart without a b eat
I'll be a song without a melody

You are more than I can ever imagine
For beyond what I can comprehend
I will never understand why you love me so much
You are the definition of a friend

You are my everything, my everything
You are my everything
