

Speechless

Anita Wilson

I can say that You're wonderful
But it doesn't seem good enough
I can say that You're kind
But that would miss the mark
I can say that You're beautiful
But to me You are so much more
How do I communicate exactly who You are?

I'm trying to convey the sentiment of my heart, and say
I really do appreciate the way You brighten up my day

I can't find the words to describe You
It would take a million years
It would take a million years to explain the way I feel
You are the epitome, You are the epitome of everything I'll ever need
I'm so in awe of You, Lord You leave me speechless

Now if I had more time
I would go down the line
And name all the things that captivate my heart
But clearly I'm not aware of words that can compare
How do I communicate exactly who You are?

I'm trying to convey the sentiment of my heart, and say
I really do appreciate the way You brighten up my day

Oh, I can't find the words to describe You
It would take a million years
It would take a million years to explain the way I feel
Lord You are the epitome, You are the epitome of everything I'll ever need
I'm so in awe of You, Lord You leave me speechless

Oh, I traveled every corner of my mind, yes I did
And found there's no expression that can define
The way You cared for me throughout the hands of time
I'm searching for a word to say
That You take my breath away

I can't find the words to describe You
It would take a million years
It would take a million years to explain the way I feel
You are the epitome of everything I'll ever need
I'm so in awe of You, Lord You leave me speechless
Say Lord You leave me speechless

If I can't say the words
Tell me what You gon' do
And I'll just raise my hand and say
...

I'm so in awe of You
Lord You leave me speechless
