

Different

Ann Marie

I'm tired of the usual
I'm tired of the same
I know I can't love you at least not in that way
Cause baby I'm too used to you
Too used to your face
Too used to your ways
Too used to the games that you play
I've been trying
Trying to fill this void (fill it)
It's something that's been missing
That I've been trying to avoid (fill it)
I don't know what it is
But I know it's not you
So, boy, don't feel bad about it
Boy, just be a man about it

Said I need something different
I need it
Said I need something different
I need it
Said something's been missing
Said I need something different
Said I need someone different
I need it
Different from me

It became a pattern
Falling for your type
Man, you're so damn predictable
Morning, noon and night
See you can never fill this emptiness
That I feel deep inside
Said I care but I don't care enough
To keep you in my life
You're just a typical guy
You ain't nothing special, boy
I want someone to make me feel
A way I never felt before
I wanna feel that feeling that
My heart has been craving for
You're just what I'm used to and
I'm in need of something more

Said I need something different
I need it
Said I need something different
I need it
Said something's been missing
Said I need something different
Said I need someone different
I need it

I told you I had issues
So you told me you would care for me
Told you that I had no one
You said that you'd be there for me

Told you I've been hurt so many times
You said you'd cry for me
You said if I live for you
You'll lay down and die for me
Damn the agony
I can't believe you lied to me
Just like the ones before
You was nothing like you said it be
Man I need a new feel
Damn I need a nigga
That would ride and keep it real

Said I need something different
I need it
Show me something different
I need it
Something's been missing
I need something
Something different for me
I need it
Different for me

I need something
I need it
I need something
Something different
Said I need something different
