

Untold

Anna Clendening

So you've reached the end of the road
And you've given up all hope
Your eyes are tired from crying, your wrists are tired from trying
To feel any pain, you just let go

Oh there's something that you should know
To keep holding on my dear
You've got a story the world wants to hear
You can't let go, it's all untold
This is just a bump in the road
So keep holding on my dear
There's so much love for you here

Some nights may seem long and your hope may be gone
But I promise, just keep holding on
There are so many pages to be filled and a life left to be lived
Pick up the pen and let it begin

And keep holding on my dear
You've got a story the world wants to hear
You can't let go, it's all untold
This is just a bump in the road
So keep holding on my dear
There's so much love for you here
So keep holding on my dear
There's so much love for you here

Keep holding on my dear
You've got a story the world wants to hear
You can't let go, it's all untold
This is just a bump in the road
So keep holding on my dear
There's so-o-o much for you, here
Keep holding on my dear
