Anna Graceman

I grew up in a little town
Where Christmas trees were all around
The snow would fall so perfectly
Like something out of a winter dream

All the stars in the sky
Shining like twinkle lights
Remind me of simpler times

Yeah, the feeling of the season
Will always be evergreen
In the arms of the ones I love
I've got everything I need
And I'm holding on close
To what matters most
These moments turn to memories
But the feeling of the season
Will always be evergreen

It's starting to get cold out there
Holiday spirit fills the air
The days move quick, they're counting down
And I start missing that little town

All the stars in the sky
Shining like twinkle lights
Remind me of simpler times

Yeah, the feeling of the season
Will always be evergreen
In the arms of the ones I love
I've got everything I need
And I'm holding on close
To what matters most
These moments turn to memories
But the feeling of the season
Will always be evergreen

Yeah, the feeling of the season
Will always be evergreen
In the arms of the ones I love
I've got everything I need
And I'm holding on close
To what matters most
These moments turn to memories
But the feeling of the season
Will always be evergreen
