

So I Cried

Anna Graceman

I look out of my window
I think of you
And then I see you standing there
And then you disappear
So I cried
So I cried

I went out in the back yard
I saw my brother there
He was singing he was dancing
He was all around
So I cry with joy in my heart
So I cried

I am gone now oh you are gone now
But I still love you
I had a feeling that you were somewhere closer than before
So I cried
So I cried

And every now and then I hear his laughter in my ears
And even though it brings joy to my heart i cry
So I cried
So I cried

I still look out my window
I still think of you
And then i see you standing there
And then you disappear

So I cried
So I cried
So I cried
So I cried
