

Treble Heart

Anna Graceman

A steady beat goes 1, 2, 3, 4
A steady heart goes "I Love You More"
I know sometimes it's confusing
Pick out a moment when you couldn't make up your mind
And you think that your entire life is timed
You said "it's your choice" but who's choosing

You told me we were the perfect song
So I continued to sing along
But now that I know what this is all about
I'll stop talking and shout

Hey! I thought we were the greatest symphony, melody, harmony
You talked about us like that at the start
Hey! You said it's how it's supposed to be, destiny, I don't agree
You messed with my mind and tore me apart
And now it seems you've broke my heart, my treble heart

A broken heart thinks everything is just fine
A broken metronome counts out the wrong time
People around say, I should let go (woah oh-oh-oh)
My mind is spinning and I desperately need a cure
I'm in a fantasy, blinded that's for sure
You used to love, that was awhile ago

You told me we were the perfect song
So I continued to sing along
But now that I know what this is all about
I'll stop talking and shout

Hey! I thought we were the greatest symphony, melody, harmony
You talked about us like that, at the start
Hey! You said it's how it's supposed to be, destiny, I don't agree
You messed with my mind and tore me apart
And now it seems you've broke my heart, my treble heart

You were the base I was the treble
We took life to a whole nother level
But you'll never get there again, my friend
Cause it's the end
Though my heart is on fire and so are my tears
I will remember you through the years
Cause you're responsible for this light
That burns inside, and it's alright

You told me we were the perfect song
So I continued to sing along
But now that I know what this is all about
I'll stop talking and shout

Hey! I thought we were the greatest symphony, melody, harmony
You talked about us like that, at the start
Hey! You said it's how it's supposed to be, destiny, I don't agree
You messed with my mind and tore me apart
And now it seems you've broke my heart, my treble heart