Anna of the North

Shotgun, 'cause I don't have a license
Looking at the other kids, I'm not really like them
Shotgun, don't care where we are driving
I cry a little less, getting better at surviving
Everybody's going to a party
I think that they forgot to invite me
Shotgun, 'cause I don't have a license
Would take you for a ride, but I don't even have a bike, man

Such a long time ago, far away, still feels like yesterday
I tried to fit in under my skin and believe that I can be something
They didn't want me to be too much, but less wasn't enough
I had a friend with a car that I liked, he was nice, unlike the other guys

Shotgun, 'cause I don't have a license
Looking at the other kids, I'm not really like them
Shotgun, don't care where we are driving
I cry a little less, getting better at surviving
Everybody's going to a party
I think that they forgot to invite me
Shotgun, 'cause I don't have a license
Would take you for a ride but I don't even have a bike, man

Such a long time ago, we don't talk anymore, but I remember you
Side by side, at a time, we were taller than all the guys that went to school
Never thought we would fall in love 'cause love was just for fools
I was drunk one night, one fight, but yeah, I still remember you

Shotgun, 'cause I don't have a license
Looking at the other kids, I'm not really like them
Shotgun, don't care where we are driving
I cry a little less, getting better at surviving
Everybody's going to a party
I think that they forgot to invite me
Shotgun, 'cause I don't have a license
Would take you for a ride but I don't even have a bike, man

Shotgun, shotgun
Shotgun, shotgun
Shotgun
(Would take you for a ride but I don't even have a....)
Shotgun
