Girl Laying Down

Anna Ternheim

I know a girl laying down She's sleeping weeks at a time And when she wakes up she watches TV Counting cracks in the ceiling

No, I don't know what she's thinking So I give up waiting for someone, waiting Talking to someone, staring

I never come around I never come around I left her fifteen years behind Girl's laying down Never come around

So much for girl staying In afraid of being needed And seen she watches The world on a screen

She's distant And God knows I tried to leave her 'Cause she's got a constant fever I let it slip my mind

I never come around I never come around I left her fifteen years behind

I know a girl laying down No, I never wasted my time We have something in common She's as different as I am
