

Come In

Anne Clark

You are tranquility and gentle peace
You are desire and what satisfies desire
I dedicate to you, full of joy and pain my eye and heart as your dwelling place
Come in and close the gates quietly behind you.

Drive out all other grief from my breast!
Let my heart be full of your joy
The cover of my eyes is lit by your glow alone
Oh, fill it quite!