

That We Have Been Here

Anne Clark

The east wind
breathes fragrance into the air;
And in so doing makes know
That you have been here

Since tears flow here
You will know,
Though you are otherwise unaware,
That I have been here

Fragrant scents and tears proclaim
That we have been here.